

Extra lolly for Hurley ... the ice-cream lady

SHE has yet to make it big as a movie star, but it seems luscious Liz Hurley is to have her moment of small-screen success – as the new Magnum ice-cream girl.

The figure-conscious face of Estee Lauder, who will be 40 in June, has just shot a new advert for the popular brand in which she polishes off a calorie-laden choc ice on a stick.

The pin-thin model-turned-actress, who survives on one meal a day, throws caution to the wind as she seductively licks the confectionery before handing back the empty stick to dashing 28-year-old Scottish actor Craig Henderson, star of the forthcoming movie Making Waves. 'It's a very sexy ad and Liz unsurprisingly plays the part of an A-list movie star on a yacht moored off an exclusive resort,' says my mole on the set in Turkey.

'Liz is surrounded by paparazzi but her eye catches Henderson, who ends up on her yacht and gives her his Magnum.

'All he gets is an empty stick for his generosity, while Liz is left licking her lips,' says my source.

The ad is being tested on the Continent and I'm assured that after the vast fee Liz negotiated, which will cover her son Damian's school fees for life, she will be heading for British TV screens and cinemas soon.
